

Geopolitical Council Hungarian-Canadian Security Policy Cooperation

Hungarian-Canadian security policy cooperation began in 2009 and we spent the last year establishing relations and assessing opportunities. As a first step, we broadened our relations with the Canadian diplomatic mission here and opened up to cooperation in other areas in addition to the security policy relationship.

Cooperation may cover projects that are directly related to Canada's economic, political or security interests. Recognizing this fact, we began with a so-called "democracy building" project, in which the Canadian side may also be interested, and to which experts may be invited to present solutions that can be exemplary for many democracies. As part of this, we also submitted an application.

In addition to developing the project, we maintained constant contact with the embassy, introduced them to the activities of the institute, and the diplomats of the mission also participated in events we organized. Nowadays, the relationship has become regular and can be considered continuous.
