ABOUT SECURITY

SSL stands for Secure Sockets Layer. All three banks / payment interfaces have an encryption key that protects the communication channel. Currently, 90% of the world's e-commerce uses this encryption method. The browser program used by the customer uses SSL to encrypt the cardholder's data before sending it, so it reaches the bank in encrypted form, so it cannot be interpreted by unauthorized persons. The bank only handles the card data required for the payment transaction on the payment page with SSL encryption. Only the bank has access to the data provided on the payment page, it is not forwarded to the GEOPOLITICAL COUNCIL by the bank. The result of the transaction will be announced after the payment by the Donor side of the GEOPOLITICAL COUNCIL. To pay by card, your internet browser must support SSL encryption.
